

G E Hartley & Son - Leeds

With a banner on the outside of our property together with an article in the Wetherby News (arranged by myself) the open day received much attention from the local community. A number of those who did come were interested in funeral plans and had many questions regarding the options available today, including green funerals and types of coffin etc. A local police officer also attended who found the exercise extremely informative.

All in all it was a successful day