

M. Lucking & Sons – Chelmsford

We at M. Lucking & Sons have been in Chelmsford since around 1631 in the Great & Little Waltham area of the town. Now in New London Road since 1883 held a Bereavement Awareness Open Day on November 8th to try & promote the family run independent family funeral directors.

Although a fairly wet day we did have numerous members of the public pop in viewing the premises & asking all sorts of questions along with local clergy, funeral celebrants, staff from the local registry office and Mr Simon Burns MP. Whilst questions were asked we enjoyed light refreshments.

We had a horse drawn hearse for people to look around, limousines on show along with a range of memorials & our carpenter & joiner Mr Martin Goddard who stood crafting a traditional Solid oak coffin on our premises as we still craft our own coffins & caskets in any type of timber asked for, if in supply.

Thanks go to those who visited us on such a wet day.
